

AP MUSIC

NOVEMBER NEWSLETTER

Dear supporters and students of AP Music,

As we head into a warm and sunny November, it's finally time for family gatherings and events. We turn our sights to both Thanksgiving and Native American Heritage Month, and we are excited to highlight family, global diversity, musical collaboration, and artistic inclusion. The Magic City begins to stir with preparations for Miami Art Week, and we would like to extend the concept to a thriving Miami Art Season, as we are already preparing collaborations with friends and organizations from all walks of the arts, and attracting visitors who are drawn to the vibrant cultural crossroads that only the Miami Art Season can offer.

AP Music Students Shine at UM Frost

Our students had the opportunity to receive feedback on their Fall repertoire from Professor Rafael Padron, Director of Classical Guitar at the University of Miami's Frost School of Music. We are so proud of their hard work, and grateful to this professor and institution for allowing us to share the results of our unique approach to musical instruction. Independent arts education is critical to elevating the artistic level of students in our area.

Online Booking and Classes Now Available

We are extending our course offerings to online and hybrid course designs. This will also allow us to convert any in-person class to an online meeting instantly. Request your online class today.

December recital at Cernuda Arte

Please mark your calendars for Sunday, December 11th, when we will hold our semestral recitals at Cernuda Arte in Coral Gables. There will also be a gathering for our adult students on the same day. We would like to thank this Gables-based cultural center for hosting our students.

Give the Gift of Music this Holiday Season.

Making time for music is an important form of self-care, no matter what your background or level of proficiency. According to this blog report from Johns Hopkins Medicine, "there are few things that stimulate the brain the way music does". Our gift cards are a great way to share the music with others.
